

Marolf Construction

Bob Marolf had a problem. None of the office computers for his commercial construction business were connected. He had his accounting data on one, estimating data on another and couldn't get to his information without interrupting his employees.

Bob Marolf was frustrated with projects that required him to tackle complex data access issues and was unsure about the safety of his information until he discovered the expertise available with PROFIT/CS.

PROFIT/CS installed an efficient network infrastructure throughout the office that will easily handle the growth that Marolf is pursuing. The maintenance process that PROFIT/CS implemented protects, and archives Marolf Construction's information assets with monthly procedures that ensure the infrastructure's integrity.

“Bringing PROFIT/CS in has solved the problems I had getting to my data from my own pc. I can work at my desk, manipulating accounting data, without interrupting my employees who need access to the same information. I can create reports, track my costs and create estimates more quickly and accurately – and with less frustration.”

“As icing on the cake, PROFIT/CS maintains my network, backs up and stores data in a secure off-site location, updates and maintains security software and hardware. Because of PROFIT/CS's years of computer technology experience and expertise, I have full confidence in the network and the services provided. Although I'm not what you would call computer-oriented, I know that we are beginning to realize the full potential of what our computers can do for us. Today I actually enjoy coming in and turning on my computer because the frustrations of inefficient communications have been eliminated. I also sleep easier knowing that the data that keeps my business going is safe.”

“I look forward to tackling more technology projects – implementing a better email system, rolling out our Web site, incorporating Timberline estimating programs into the network - with PROFIT/CS as my guide.”
